ARMY OFFICERS WERE ASKED TO USE INFLUENCE

Contingent Fee Agents Expose Methods Used to Secure Contracts

MANY CALL TO EXPLAIN THEIR OPERATIONS; ASK LENIENCY

May Be Done Where Sinister Influence Was Not Employed

Washington, June 19.—Many self-acknowledged contingent fee agents appeared today at the department of justice to explain their operations and to ask leniency in any action the department may take to break up the exposed system of defrauding contractors and the government out of millions of dollars.

Many of these agents heretofore had been unknown to the department and this fact promoted the impression that the system of making commissions out of war orders is even more extensive than officials believed.

Hundreds of letters, telegrams and personal calls came to Attorney General Gregory and Assistant Attorney General Huston Thompson, in direct charge of the campaign against the contingent fee system, inquiring concerning the legal status of contracts already made, or the legality of maintaining representatives in Washington. Some admitted that they had sublet contracts, not knowing that this was a violation of the law.

Although no formal statement of policy was made by the department of justice, officials intimated that leniency would be shown in all cases where it was apparent that the contractor or the commission agent neither pretended to use nor actually did employ any sinister influence in obtaining orders.

In many cases, it is understood, manufacturers have written to army officers who formerly held positions with them or with allied concerns, asking them to use influence in getting contracts.

All documents shedding any light on the awarding of contracts for airplanes or parts found in these papers were referred to Charles E. Hughes, who is conducting a special inquiry into aircraft production.

Lieutenant James C. Staley, under arrest in New York on charges of accepting a bribe from a raincoat company for his influence on the company's behalf, was tried immediately by a court-martial and the information he has furnished regarding other improper practices will be used to run down persons implicated.

A bill to prohibit "cost plus" contracts and annual government contracts secured by payment or promise of a commission or use of influence was introduced today by Senator Poinsett of Washington, and referred to a senate judiciary subcommittee.

One Washington firm of contingent fee agents negotiated $10,000,000 worth of contracts for its clients. It was disclosed today by examination of the firm's papers seized by secret agents. Another firm, also maintaining business headquarters in Washington, had received $100,000 in commission. Most of these fees were paid in installments after receipt by the contractors of checks from the government in payment for goods delivered or in process of manufacture.

A commission agent firm in another city was about to close 15 contracts for clients when its office was raided.

Among the papers examined today were scores of telegrams in code. These when deciphered disclosed references to government employees and others whom the department of justice officials characterized as "politicians." It developed today that navy purchasing officers have known of the contingent fee system for seven years and have tried persistently to break it up.

CAR LINES AT DAYTON TIED UP; MEN ON STRIKE

Dayton, June 19.—Thousands of citizens walked to work here today, because of a strike which tied up all of the principal street car lines. Employees of the Dayton Street Railway Company and Dayton Street Railway companies' lines went out at midnight because the officials of the companies refused union recognition and a wage increase. In each instance the city commission was petitioned to take over the lines and operate them so that important war work might not be held up because workmen could not get to their place of employment. There has been no violence.

FEDERAL OPERATION. Washington, June 19.—A tentative contract for federal operation of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad has been agreed upon by the railroad administration and the receiver of the road to be submitted to the court for approval.

German Attack On the Rheims Front Repulsed By the French Troops and Heavy Losses Are Suffered By Enemy

VIOLENT COMBATS DEVELOPED DURING THE BATTLE AND GERMANS DELIVERED INTENSE ARTILLERY FIRE ALONG WHOLE FRONT BETWEEN VRIGNY AND LA POMPELLE

INVADERS SUCCEED IN ENTERING SILLERY WOOD BUT ARE DRIVEN OUT BY COUNTER-ATTACKS

Teutonic Infantry Stormed Out of Trenches and Began Assault at Six O'Clock Last Evening Along a Front 14 Miles in Length, But It Proved Costly to the Huns for They were Nowhere Successful in Attempt to Enter the French Lines—Straightening of the German Line Along North Bank of the Vesle River Has Not Yet Been Accomplished.

Associated Press Telegram
Paris, June 19.—The Germans last night, after violent preparatory bombardment, began an attack on the Rheims front between Vigny and La Pompele, the war office announced today.

The French are resisting the German blow with entire success.

On the western front of the attack the enemy was not able even to reach the French line. In the center, before the city, the Germans were completely repulsed and suffered heavy losses. East of Rheims the French were equally successful.

The statement follows:

"Last night at six o'clock the Germans delivered a violent preparatory artillery fire along the whole front of Rheims from the region of Vigny west of the city, as far east as La Pompele. At nine o'clock the enemy began an attack on the French positions between these two points."

"The French troops resisted the German attack with complete success, the counter barrage of the French artillery proving very strong. Between Vigny and Ormes German assault troops were stopped by the French fire and forced to return many times to their lines of departure and were not finally able to reach the French positions."

"Around Rheims violent combats developed during the course of which the enemy suffered heavy losses and was everywhere repulsed."

"East of Rheims the fighting likewise ended to the advantage of the French. The Germans having been successful in penetrating the woods northeast of Sillery, were driven out by a French counter-attack. Prisoners taken in the region of Rheims declared that the town was attacked by three divisions, which were ordered to take the place at all costs during the night."

"The front of the new German attack in the semicircle drawn by the army about the city of Rheims in the recent offensive on the Aisne front. The Rheims region comprised the left flank of the German attack. Ground was given by the French on both sides of the cathedral city, but the town itself and the nearby protecting forts were held against the German onslaught and have since remained in French possession."

"Rheims, however, was hemmed in on three sides by the enemy and it has been considered only a question of time when the Germans would make a concerted movement to oust its defenders."

"The front of the present attack from Vigny, west of the city to La Pompele around the semicircle to the east, is approximately fourteen miles."

FRENCH STAND FIRM BEFORE STURGEON CATHEDRAL CITY

(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches.)
Standing firmly before the war-stricken city of Rheims, the French have checked a new German drive launched last night, five days after the offensive on the Montdidier-Noyen lines came to a halt. The fighting on the active battle front has been extended to a point five miles southeast of the Cathedral city.

At six o'clock Tuesday morning the German artillery began a heavy bombardment between Vigny, west of Rheims, to the village of La Pompele, on the north bank of the Vesle river east of that city. Three hours later the Teutonic infantry stormed out of their trenches to begin assault. According to the official statement issued at Paris the Germans were nowhere successful in their attempts to enter the French lines, being repulsed with heavy losses.

The front over which the new attack was launched is approximately 14 miles in length. It has been expected that the Germans would sooner or later attempt to straighten out their lines in this region because the close of the Aisne offensive left the allies in a favorable position along the front of the Marne east of Chateau-Thierry to the region north of Chalons. Having interior lines, they are able to quickly concentrate their forces on either side of the angle having its apex at Rheims. The ground over which the Germans are attacking west of Rheims is rather high and irregular. To the north of the city it is more level and to the east the French being between the enemy and the Vesle river, would be operating at a disadvantage were it not for wooded hills which they hold on each side of the village of La Pompele.

The connection between this assault and the one delivered between Montdidier and Noyen last week is rather difficult to trace, except that a straightening of the line would be of advantage to the foe.

Raiding operations are reported from the British fronts in the Somme and Lys sectors.

Pierce attacks are being made by the Austrians to overcome the Italian resistance along the Piave, but the defensive line still holds. Apparently the enemy sees his only hope of enlarging his gains across the Piave, having been given a disastrous check in the mountains from west of Asiago to the Piave.

In the mountains the Austrians have been generally on the defensive since they were checked and then thrown back over the terrain gained Saturday in the first day of the offensive. The French and British around Asiago are under a heavy enemy bombardment and the French Tuesday repulsed a strong local Austrian effort. Along the Val Sigure, against the bastion of Monte Grappa, the enemy holds further attacks in abeyance.

Along the nearly thirty mile Piave line the situation has not improved greatly from an Allied viewpoint, although the Austrians have been defeated at most points in efforts to enlarge their gains. Where and in what force the enemy has crossed the river and how far he has progressed into the Venetian plain are not outlined clearly, but apparently the Italians have given most ground on the north around Montello and on the south of Capo Sile.

From their foothold on Montello, an important plateau three by eight miles in extent, which dominates the country between Bassano and Treviso, the Austrians are making violent attempts to drive the Italians off the height entirely, while the Italians are fighting just as determinedly to keep the enemy close to the river bank, the fighting of the past two days has been favorable to the Italians. In the center from Masdada, to Fossalta, the Austrians are being held well in check and have been unable to make any progress across the Piave, despite repeated attempts.

Seemingly the Italians have pushed back the Austrians several miles between Fossalta and Capo Sile and along the Fossalta canal which runs southwest toward Venice. Capo Sile is in the lowlands along the Adriatic but if the enemy reaches the Fossalta canal to the north he would be on drier ground and better able to push toward Mestre and outflank the line northward along the Piave.

What gains the enemy has made, however, have been hardly commensurate with the preparations made, the shells expended and the lives lost.

Emperor Charles, unless his troops can make swifter progress, will have to call off his "hunger offensive" and face the populace at home. Reports have reached Switzerland that socialist manifestations occurred in Vienna Monday.

The Germans apparently are awaiting results on the Italian front before resuming the offensive in France and Flanders. If the Germans expected that the Austrians would advance and compel the Allies to send reserves to Italy and thus weaken the western front, it is probable they will have to change any plans based on such anticipation.

Local attacks and intense artillery fire here and there mark the lull on the western line. The French and British have improved their positions at isolated points between Rheims and Ypres, while repulsing enemy attempts. The German artillery fire has increased in intensity from northwest of Montdidier to the Aisne.

German patrols have been active against the American positions along the Marne, but their efforts to penetrate the American lines were repulsed. One enemy patrol was almost wiped out by the American machine gun fire.

He was dressed in the uniform of a naval officer and when examined by officials said he had been discharged from the navy but did not state when he was discharged or who discharged him.

PARISIAN NERVES HAVE RELAXED IN PAST FEW DAYS

Paris, June 19.—News of the Austrian repulse on the Italian front, the comparatively quiet on the French and British lines, silence on the part of the long-range guns for six days, and the inability of the Goths to cross the terrific defensive barrage in their last three attempts to reach Paris, only one German having succeeded in flying over the city, have caused the taut nerves of Paris to relax. The city has assumed an appearance nearer that of before the war than at any time since the opening of hostilities.

ANOTHER GREETING FOR THE KAISER AND HIS CREW. LONG RANGE RAIL GUN READY FOR BOMBARDMENT

One of the big factors in checking the enemy's drive on the western front has been the effective work of the French as well as the American artillery. The picture shows a huge French long-range rail gun being brought up for a bombardment.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

Don't Let Soap Spoil Your Hair

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain mulsed coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

JAPANESE BATTLESHIP LANDS MARINES IN RUSSIA; FORMER RUSSIAN SHIP, NOW JAPANESE, VISITS HOME

Japanese marines were landed in Russia recently from a Japanese battleship at Vladivostok. The ship is shown at the left. The ship at the right was at one time a Russian cruiser, but was captured by the Japanese during the Russo-Japan war. Its trip to Russia was sort of a visit home.

NEWARK STORES HAVE ABOLISHED HALF HOLIDAYS

At a conference held by the merchants of the city, representing the following lines of business: Dry goods, ladies' ready-to-wear, millinery, clothing, shoe, book and stationery, wallpaper, furniture, hardware and 5 and 10c stores, it was the unanimous opinion of those present that Thursday afternoon holidays should be abolished.

The merchants of this city have put their shoulders to every patriotic movement and now that President Wilson requests efficiency and service from the entire nation, they do not feel that they would be complying with his request if they closed their places of business on Thursday afternoons. Many stores are experiencing a shortage of clerks, due to so many having been called to the colors, and if the best possible service is to be rendered to the community at large, it is absolutely essential that the stores remain open on Thursday afternoons.

Everybody recalls the "heatless Mondays" last winter when the business men closed their places of business in compliance with the fuel administrator's order, and if such drastic measures are necessary next winter to relieve the fuel situation, Newark merchants will comply without a murmur or protest. However, it is to the best interests of Newark and Licking county to eliminate Thursday afternoon closing, especially during strenuous times, when the government requests and demands the utmost efficiency, and it will, no doubt, meet with the entire approval of both city and county residents, as many people have expressed their disapproval of Thursday afternoon holidays.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Editor of the Advocate: I want to thank you and the people of our county for the kind token you sent me. I am sure every man in the service from Licking county is proud that he is from that community and more than proud that he is fighting for it and the feeling one has when he receives such a sign of appreciation cannot be expressed. Frank Mayer, a Newark boy, has not had one of these. His address is Cincinnati Base Hospital Unit, Camp Sherman, O. Yours truly, Donald Kissane, Camp Sherman, O.

Editor of the Advocate:—I received the medal and thank you. It is very much appreciated. Yours truly, James Brookover, Camp Sherman, O.

Editor of the Advocate:—I wish to thank the people of Newark and Licking county for the medal I received and want to say that I think it a splendid way of showing the boys in the service that the people back home are with them and ready to back them through this great war, and will say it makes a fellow feel proud that he is from Licking county. I have shown the medal to the boys and all think it a fine way of showing that the people are with you, and I believe I am the only one from Newark in this branch of the service, as I have never seen another fellow from Newark since I left. I will try to do my part, although I am not learning to shoot a gun. I may be able to deliver the messages to the boys at the front, as I am classed as a dispatch rider and am now a motorcycle driver and my duty is taking the officers around the camp and a fellow surely gets enough saluting on this job. I have my right arm about worn out now, so I guess I will not be able to use a gun at all when I get across, but I will give the Haus fair warning to keep out of the way or take a good bump from Newark. I will close this foolish letter, thanking the people back home again for the medal, and hope to be able to wear it back again after this war is over. I am, gratefully yours, Elmer L. Howard, motorcycle driver, Hdq. Co. 302, Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa.

POTATO BRIGADE IS ORGANIZED FOR WAR GARDEN WORK

Next Friday evening at 5:15 o'clock hoys will be flying thick and fast in the Elks war garden work in East Newark. Last night at the special meeting of Elks for initiatory work, Dr. H. H. Baker, the well-known East Main street physician, with the assistance of Dr. J. T. Lewis, organized a brigade of workers who will assemble at the Elks club-rooms and proceed to the seven-acre plot which has been planted in potatoes and beans.

Dr. Baker addressed the large assemblage on patriotism and the part that should be taken by all loyal Elks in any activity which they may be called upon to perform. He stated that the food problem was the essential factor, or one of them, at least, with which the government was dealing, and that in winning the war potatoes and beans would figure both directly and indirectly, and that the widespread use of the same at home in place of meat dishes would release that much meat for shipment overseas, and that the sudden rise to popularity of the humble potato was truly remarkable, and that it had literally saved the lives of thousands of people behind the lines as it was a cheap, nourishing and palatable food.

The doctor then called for volunteers and from the number responding it may be necessary to requisition all the "hoes in the various stores of the city."

IDEAL WEATHER FOR
MARION. June 19.—Ideal weather and a card presenting the pick of the Ohio Circuit trotters and pacers, were handed out yesterday when the horses got away in the first race of the 1918 "Little Grand Circuit" meet at the last half mile oval here.

Horsemen from far and near have gathered in Marion for the four-day racing festival, and if the fine weather continues, a record-breaking crowd is expected every day of the meet.

The Marion County Racing Association has done a record-breaking crowd in making this year's offerings overshadown, if possible, the very successful meetings of former years.

EDUCATION AS AN INVESTMENT.

It is true of the majority of the young people now securing their prized college and high school diplomas, that their education has meant sacrifice for somebody. Even if a school is supported by public funds, the majority of the parents have had to struggle to keep the children there, to provide them with board and clothes and give them their time free from work.

The schools provided out of public funds do not give a young person all he needs in modern competition. Colleges and technical schools employ the ablest people in the profession. Their brains and inspiration are a great boost to ambitious young folks. But the higher education is very costly. What return does the parent get for his sacrifice? You get the satisfaction of making a contribution to the community. You have sent out a person of more than average intelligence, equipment, and discrimination. He will be able to render superior civic service.

And you have made a business investment for your family. The statistics of colleges and technical schools show that their graduates are able to earn far more than the average of uneducated people. They are worth more, people will pay a higher price to them. It is poor policy to let young people go out in the world uneducated, working for low pay. A few years of sacrifice would put them in a way to double or triple their earnings and open up possibilities of big success.

So community interests and ordinary sense both tell us to educate the children well. Will you find one parent watching his boy or girl graduate this month, who will regret the money it cost? Not unless the young person wasted his time, which is not the case with most of our modern young folks.

SAVING TELEPHONE TALK.

One characteristic incident of war times occurred when some of the telephone companies discontinued the practice of giving the inquirers the time of day. Subscribers may think this is slight service that could easily be rendered.

Telephone companies, like every industry, are short of help. Anything that tends to create needless use of the lines adds to work. If we occupy the lines by needless talk, it increases the work to do, the expense of performing it, and in the end the public will pay the bills.

Some people will call up a neighbor living 100 yards away, and gossip over the line for half an hour. If they have that amount of spare time, why not take a moment and walk over to the neighbor's house, as they used to a few years ago?

The use of telephone lines for "visiting" has been a privilege keenly enjoyed by many people, particularly women, who are shut up in their quiet homes and feel the need of social intercourse. Many a farmer's wife has been saved from morbid thoughts and melancholy solitude by the ability to call up her neighbors and talk things over. This kind of conversation is a blessing to many otherwise solitary people.

But it all makes work, and we should try to avoid unnecessary demands in these times. "Visiting" on telephone lines has always interfered with business calls. We know of several "telephone visits" that continued for more than an hour. Many times people have been unable to get a line for an important call because some one was peddling gossip. No one wants to cut out pleasant social conversation over the telephone, but it should have its limits of time. As for asking Central the time of day, why bother her when it is so easy for anyone to regulate a watch in these days of standard time.

The arrival of 1,000,000 Americans will not create the slightest alarm in Germany. They have it straight from Mr. Hindenburg that every American will turn tail and run the minute a German says "Boo."

The people who thought 10 weeks ago that it would upset the fundamental life of the nation if everyone got up an hour earlier, have now completely forgotten that we played a little joke on the clocks.

It is unfair to say that sellers of refreshments at the ball game are non-essential workers, as the American public must have its pop bottles to throw at the umpire.

The girls who think they can attract admiration by expensive clothes, generally succeed in advertising themselves as very costly acquisitions.

Russia is starving, but having the glories of the Socialistic state, they are all perfectly satisfied.

BATTLES FOR PARIS.

(Syracuse Post-Standard.)
What the Germans are striving for is no longer doubtful. They are struggling with all their power to reach Paris this summer. They are employing their present superiority in numbers, not to break through the line along a narrow front, but to break it down along a broad front. They are spending human life extravagantly to inflict the greatest damage upon the French, British and Americans, to capture what they can, and push back the war frontier of France until Paris comes within the German area of conquest.

There will be no let up in the offensive operations excepting for so long as is necessary for recuperation, replenishment and repair of their shattered forces. They have paid the price for all that they have taken in Flanders, Picardy and Champagne, but there is no reason to believe that the price has checked or changed their purpose. They drove huge wedges into the line across the St. Quentin defenses and Chemin-des-Dames, they followed with assaults upon the sides of the wedges at Arras and Noyon, Soissons and Rheims, they are not poking crevices into the battlefield, but they are fighting to make the French yield ground along a front so broad that they will be in no danger of flanking, so surely that there can be no unsupported advance, so strongly that there can be no repetition of the battle of the Marne.

The Parisians realize the objective of the German operations. They know better than we what power Germany has now concentrated on the west, and what the inferiority of the French—in number, not in morale, they are worried. They have braced themselves, cheerfully not mournfully, to further losses. They see the German war machine in the state of desperate effort to crush France before winter. They know that there are 750,000 in support of the French, to be used when in his enlightened judgment Foch determines to use them. They know that before September there will be 500,000 more American troops in France. They know and the Germans know that American troops can fight.

When the American reserves shall be used rests solely with the chief command. He has waited calmly and confidently the German advance so far. He has employed Americans by single divisions or brigades in local operations. He has gone into print only so far as to say that the war must be won by offensive operations. He has employed his reserves sparingly because Germany still has ample reserves to meet his. When the balance is in his favor he may be relied upon to strike hard and effectively.

COMMANDMENTS FOR WIVES.

(Tit-Bits.)
The late Queen of Roumania, whose pen name was Carmen Sylva, drew up ten commandments to help young women who had just been married. Here they are:

1. Never begin a quarrel, but if there is disagreement do not give way until the matter has been put right.
2. Never forget that you are the wife of a man and not of a god. Do not worry too much over his weaknesses.
3. Do not be always asking your husband for money.
4. If you discover that your husband has a big heart, remember also that he has a stomach. Look well after his stomach.
5. From time to time, but not too often, allow your husband to have the last word. That pleases him and does not harm you.
6. Read all the newspapers, not merely the sensational bits. Your husband will willingly discuss with you politics and the day's happenings.
7. During a period of sickness, do not vex your husband.
8. Pay your husband a compliment from time to time. At the same time let him understand that you yourself do not always steer clear of mistakes.
9. If your husband is good and active, be a contrade to him. If he is heavy and slow, be a friend and adviser to him.
10. Above all, show respect to your mother-in-law. Remember that your husband loved her before he loved you.

What more dreadful, more to be abhorred, than to be known with infamy forever?—Fatereson.

Goosey, Goosey, Gander!
Ah, Beast of Berlin, it is no use.
You must have thought us a certain brand of What might be considered a proper goose.
To think we should fall for your propaganda.

It's a Long Way.

Aunt Culline says: George E. Lopez has got him a new Ford car and is attempting to learn to run it himself. Last night just as we was winding up the clock an Zeke had just went to put out the cat, he seen a figger a-staggerin' up our steps which it were George. He says, "Zeke, for the love of pity give me a bite to eat and lend me a bed," he says. "For I'm near my end," he says. An' then he says, "I had a axident up near Newark an' I had to walk home," he says. An' then a-groinin' heavy he says, "Zeke, why in thunder do they put their blamed milestones so fur apart. I'd like to no," he says.

GERMAN UNDERSTANDING.

(Philadelphia Record.)

Among a wealth of German sayings, self-laudatory, smug and generally absolutely devoid of a sense of humor, students of Teutonic character always give a prominent place to that deliciously absurd statement of Professor Sombart, an historian and economist much esteemed in his own country:

"It has been said that it is un-German to wish to be only German. That again is a consequence of our spiritual wealth. We understand all foreign nations; none of them understands us, and one of them can understand us."

It is the last sentence that especially excites derision. It may be admitted that no other nation understands Germany. Possibly none of them wish to after the revelations of Teutonic character during the last four years. But it is daily becoming more apparent that Germany has no comprehension whatever of the soul of other nations. She studies them most laboriously, and her students publish big books filled with information and statistics on every possible subject. They are stuffed with facts, but show no sympathetic insight into the heart of man.

This remarkable obtuseness has been shown in a thousand ways since the war began. It is just now revealing itself in Teutonic astonishment and rage over the discovery that Americans can fight like demons and win battles. Germany has been fighting us as a nation of dollar-chasers, so long that the coarse and stupid fashion they had absolutely come to believe in. It is a great shock to them to discover that Americans are idealists, ready to sacrifice their lives for their conception of liberty, and that they can shoot and kill Hunns with great skill, enthusiasm and cheerfulness.

It is not unreasonable to suppose that the Germans have been equally mistaken regarding Russia. Taking advantage of the weakness and demoralization produced by the Bolshevik government, they have in defiance of all good faith and international law, been riding roughshod over the Muscovites, apparently in the assumption that the latter have no national feeling and that they can be ill-treated, insulted and robbed with impunity. Their methods have been even more oppressive than that of Napoleon in his invasion of Russia. The Corsican could not subdue the czar's subjects, and it may be doubted whether the Kaiser will be any more successful. In the meantime he is sowing the seed of a mighty crop of anti-German hatred. If he meets with reverses in the west the Russians can be relied upon to assert themselves and quickly undo all that has been accomplished toward making them mere vassals of Germany. The Kaiser's brutal generals have already over-shot the mark.

German psychological processes are always puzzling. None of their deceptions is more incomprehensible to other nations than their big-headed and fatuous belief that they have a clear understanding of the people of other countries.

Spirit of the Press

America Awake.

From the houseposts, from the pulpits, from the newspapers and from the stage strenuous efforts have been made to awaken the American people. If they cannot hear words, perhaps the sound of guns will bring them up standing. America awake means America victorious. Be not disheartened, be not afraid, and above all, be awake! Let our answer to the Germans be that of John Paul Jones. "We have not yet begun to fight."—Indianapolis News.

When You Scratch the Back of a Hun

And so that splendid cup—solid gold and worth many thousands of dollars—awarded several years ago to the American winner of a yacht race by the emperor of Germany, is not the real thing, after all. When his back is scratched there is revealed nothing but powder. But why any surprise? Scratch the back of the covered thirty-nine acres and was found to consist of circular houses constructed underground. The results of the work seem to indicate doubt that the former inhabitants were affiliated with the Pueblo Indians.

Hun and there is discovered the savage, the barbarian, the merciless brute. There is a thin veneering of civilization. Rub it off and the gold disappears, just as in the case of the gold-washed pewter cup. They may not believe it now, but the best thing that could happen to the people of Germany would be overwhelming defeat in this war. Rid of militarism and despotism, there would be hope for them.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Business Must Not Be Killed.

The work, business and industry of this country cannot be entirely or in large part paralyzed for normal purpose without automatically paralyzing the nation for war purposes. This is not a question of "business as usual;" our productive machinery must continue to be adjusted to take care of our war needs. It is a question, after that is done, of trying to make bricks without straw, of trying to raise taxes and float bond issues by killing industry and business. It is a question of trying to make the nation powerful and victorious by impoverishing the great mass of its people, who must, in the very nature of things, support not only themselves, but their troops; indeed, in as full measure as possible, their Allies.—New York Sun.

The Oklahoma Idea Again.

The supreme court's totemry in declaring the illy conceived federal child labor law to be unconstitutional is seized upon by Senator Owen as an excuse for bringing forward once again the Oklahoma idea—which is that congress, and not the court, shall pass upon the constitutionality of an act of congress. Before the American people could be expected to trust congress with the function of the supreme court in addition to its present duties that body would have to occupy a much larger place in the public esteem than it does now or than it ever could if it were to give serious consideration to the Owen proposal. For another thing, a time when Germany and her allies are trying hard to destroy this republic is not a good time for any American to advocate a policy that would lead to its destruction.—New York Herald.

The "Scraps of Paper" that will Help Win the War

Smother the Kaiser with War Savings Stamps

Sacred treaties are called by the Kaiser mere "scraps of paper." His words are an example of the "Kultur" of the Huns who commit unspeakable crimes against innocent women and children—the "Kultur" that America is fighting to remove forever from the world.

RECLAMATION WORK

WITH WOUNDED SOLDIERS

AT CAMP SHERMAN

(Associated Press Telegrams)

Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., June 19.—Extensive reclamation work with wounded American soldiers brought back from the battlefields of Europe, similar to the work conducted in the war hospitals of Toronto, Canada, will be performed at the cantonment here in the future, medical men at the base hospital believe.

Major S. M. Rinehart, Sewickley, Pa., husband of Mary Roberts Rinehart, the author; Dr. Charles Freeman, Cincinnati, and Coach Edward S. Connor, Cleveland, have saved more than 60 per cent of the convalescent at camp. Out of 1300 patients handled, over 800 have been sent back into the ranks, physically able, it was announced today.

The work is handled under a school system with 12 classes. Then men pass from one class to another and receive their "diplomas" upon passing the twelfth class, when they are sent back into the ranks.

Conditions of the men are figured upon the amount of work they are able to accomplish without a noticeable rise in temperature.

Lieutenant L. H. Lightner of Painesville, O., camp athletic supervisor, announced four baseball games, a relay race in which 17 teams will compete, chariot races, boxing matches, and a minstrel show in the evening at the Y. C. A. building on his July 4 program.

Artillery officer of the Eighty-fourth division, located at Camp Taylor, reached camp today to attend the school for staff and field officers under Major J. Rainsford Haynes of the British mission. The school opens Thursday.

Secretary C. W. Beeching, the last of the original Y. M. C. A. men in camp, leaves within a few days for Hoboken, N. J., where he will have charge of the work at 23 points of embarkation. Lieutenant Colonel F. L. Case, former camp quartermaster, has joined the general staff at Washington.

DISSOLVE AFTER WAR.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM.
Washington, June 19.—The express monopoly created under government auspices must be dissolved after the war emergency is past, under provisions of the contract signed today by representatives of the express companies and the railroad administration.

This provision, inserted on demand of Attorney General Gregory, will require re-establishment of the Adams, American, Wells-Fargo and Southern companies as separate operating and competing units when peace is restored unless anti-trust laws are amended by that time.

It is expected the Western, Great Northern and Northern Express companies will be included in the new operating company before the commission becomes effective July 1.

SOCIAL EVENTS

SOCIETY EDITOR, AUTO 'PHONE 2122.

A charming garden dinner, followed by a salmagundi party, was given on the lawn surrounding the convent of the Dominican Sisters in Granville street on Tuesday evening. The event was planned by the freshmen and juniors of the St. Francis de Sales high school and the honor graduating class.

The tables were prettily arranged with crystal baskets filled with garden flags, and the national colors and flags made the scene a delightful one. During the evening an impromptu program was given. Rev. Father O'Boylan gave a short talk, several vocal numbers were given and the Victrola music was furnished throughout the evening. In the games the trophies were awarded to Miss Margaret Linehan, Miss Margaret Bader and Charles McGonagle and John Thornton.

The class day exercises followed the program. The class will for the commercial department was given by Esther Manning, while the class prophecy was read by Gengya Deeshin and the quotations characterizing the class were given by Louise Schaller.

Miss Margaret Linehan gave the valedictory for the class. The hours were delightfully spent with progressive games.

FIVE LOVE LETTERS

By AGNES PLUMB.

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

I.
Colorado Springs, June 14.

My Dear Mr. Meredith:
I suppose I owe you an apology. I really ought to have let you know before I left Chicago, and would have done so had you troubled yourself to let me hear from you during my last two weeks at home. Of course I understand that our discussion of your absurd jealousy is the cause of your silence. I really did think you above such petty feelings, and trust by this time you have overcome them.

Very sincerely,
Caroline Carrolton.

II.
Colorado Springs, June 22.

My Dear Ted:
I wrote to you more than a week ago, and have received no answer. I didn't think you would stay angry at me so long—especially when I wrote you the first letter. Really, Ted, I'm awfully sorry I didn't let you know before I went away, but I was so wild at you! I am beginning to see that perhaps you had a little cause for your anger that night—just a little. Please write to me soon.

Yours,
Carol.

III.
Colorado Springs, June 29.

My Dear Teddy:
By this time you must have had my second letter at least five days, and yet you won't answer. Well, I'm going to keep on writing till you do, for I'm bound you shall know that I still want you to forgive me. Please, Ted, please I'll explain everything about that horrid drive, and I'll do anything to show how sorry I am and I was so mean about it that night. If you'll only write to me and tell me that you still love me. I know you do, for you aren't the kind to forget a girl in a hurry. It's strange that you can still love such a hateful thing as I am, but I feel sure you do. Oh, you must, Teddy, darling.

If I don't hear from you soon, I'll go into the nursing business, and take care of a sick young man in this hotel. He is away down the hall, but the chambermaid sometimes tells me about him. It seems the poor fellow was knocked down on the street, where he ran out and picked up a baby who was on the car track. It was a brave act and made him a hero, but it broke his leg.

For my part, I am not interested in anyone now but my distant Teddy, who is angry with me. Please forgive and write to—Carol.

IV.
Colorado Springs, July 4.

Teddy Dear:
This is a pretty nice Fourth of July, but I don't care much. Do you remember the picnic we went to one year ago today? That was the first time you ever made love to me. I can see you yet as you stood in front of my hammock, talking so earnestly, and I laughed. Oh, well, I'm getting my pay now.

I'm going to tell you all about that horrid affair with Paul Elliot. I wish to goodness I'd told you before.

It was this way. Of course, when I promised to go driving with you I meant to go, and I got ready and waited. You said "four o'clock," you know; and when you didn't come, and Paul did, at ten minutes past four, why, I said I'd go with him for meanness. I remembered how you disliked him, and I had made such a special point of being ready on time that I went to punish you for being late. I felt cut up when we passed you down about a block driving so fast, for I knew what a horrid position it put you in, and how delighted Paul was; and besides, it was the first time you had ever failed to be on time.

Then that night when you came up and talked so awfully to me—you've no idea how stern and angry you were, Teddy, and how scared I was—why, I just wouldn't tell you how sorry I was. You made me lose my temper so quick that I didn't have time to tell you while I was repentant, and after that I didn't want to say anything but how angry I was.

You had never spoken to me so before, and—well, I didn't like it very much. I can't forget what you said when you left. You banged the door, too, Teddy, did you know it? It rings in my ears: "You never cared for me a bit, or you couldn't have put me in such a position. Since you won't explain, I'll go, and wait till you do!" Those words hurt me more than I can tell, Teddy, and I can't forget them.

Now that I have at last explained, will you come back to me again? You know you said you would—and I can't live without you.

Carol.

P. S.—The lady next door is in, and is telling Aunt Mary about the young man with the broken leg. She says he is "such a fine, handsome fellow." I wish she could see my "fine, handsome fellow!"

V.
Colorado Springs, July 8.

My Darling Girl:
Your letters have just been forwarded to me. I am the fellow with the broken leg—hurry up and come to me! I am wild for a sight of you. I heard you had gone to your uncle's in Salt Lake, and started after you, but broke my leg the day I struck here. Isn't it all the strangest thing you ever heard of—special Providence or something? If you aren't here in five minutes, I'll be up there on a stretcher, broken leg and all. Darling, hurry!
Ted.

Keeping the Hair Fluffy.

For fluffless tresses a shampoo once a week during the summer will be the first requirement. Oily hair will require that amount of washing in sultry weather when the scalp pores spire freely and dust is flying about every where.

Have the water as hot as you can bear it, both for washing and for rinsing, and do not rub soap directly on the hair. It is hard to get off, even with repeated rinsings and nothing makes the hair so heavy and limp as soap left on it after the shampoo.

Make a lather first by mixing some good prepared shampoo soap, or scrape a caustic soap boiled in water, with a pint of scalding water. Pour into this a basin of water ready for the shampoo, and with a small brush rub the lather well into the roots of the hair. During this process the hair should be braided into two braids and parted from the forehead to the neck to prevent snarling.

When well soaped the braids should be loosened and the head plunged into the basin of soapy water. The whole head being rubbed into a fine lather with the finger tips. A pinch of borax in the water will help to cut the oil and make the hair more dry and fluffy after the shampoo.

At least five thorough rinsings must be given to remove every particle of oil or soap from the hair. Not until the hair gives out a squeaky sound, when a strand is drawn between the thumb and finger, is it completely rinsed and clean.

Now comes the drying and be it remembered that the more quickly the hair can be made to dry, the more fluffy and soft it will remain after the shampoo. If rubbed briskly with bath towels and then briefly fanned, while the locks are shaken and lifted in turn, even a thick head of hair should be completely dry in twenty minutes.

AMBITION SALTS

Most people need an occasional remedy to make the eyes bright, the skin clear, the stomach strong, the blood pure and the liver and kidneys healthy.

If you're out of sorts, lack the vim, vigor and "pep" you'd like to have, try AMBITION SALTS—the new, pleasant, effervescent kind. They start you right in the morning. Cleanse your system of the dangerous uric acid poison which is responsible for so much indigestion, biliousness, headache, acid stomach, rheumatism and kidney and liver trouble. Forget the ailments and miseries that make life a burden and be your old real self again. A large bottle of AMBITION SALTS costs only fifty cents at T. J. Evans and money will be refunded on the first bottle purchased if you are not satisfied. Try this. It's surely worth while to feel ambitious, to have the energy which makes you go to work eagerly to accomplish to your satisfaction what you have to do, to feel again the glow of perfect health, strength and vigor.—(Adv.)

NO BLANKET AUTHORITY FOR INCREASING RATES ON INTERURBAN ROADS

Columbus, June 19.—Interurban railways will not be given blanket authority to increase passenger and freight rates in line with increases to steam roads, it was announced by the state public utilities commission yesterday.
Individual claims of the company will be considered by the commission. It was stated, Freight increases will be met with more favor than passenger fare raises because it is thought with the higher rates on steam railroad freight charges the electric roads might be taxed to the extent of crippling facilities.

CONTINUATION OF THE DEDICATION SERVICES
BAPTIST CHURCH

The dedication services of the First Baptist church were continued last night, with a great supper in the new dining room of the church.
A thousand people were fed and it was a first class refreshment, to say the least. Several hundred were accommodated at one sitting, and everything went forward like clock work in the large dining hall. The cake, ice cream, coffee and tea were served from a special coffee room in one corner of the hall, and over a score of ladies passed the plates over a wide counter from the kitchen.

The big fan in the sub-basement pumped fresh air into the building, making it very pleasant despite the crowds. Following the magnificent supper a program was given in the auditorium. The pastor, Mr. Stull, a former pastor, Mr. Bennett, Supt.
O. J. Barnes of the city schools, and Dr. L. C. Sparks occupied places in the pulpit platform. A young girls' chorus on the side balcony sang delightfully, the chorus choir rendered special numbers of music, and Mr. Kemp sang a solo. All were received with applause.

Dr. Bennett then offered prayer and was the first speaker. The audience gave him a fine reception—a welcome to the old church and people among whom he had labored so faithfully. Letters of regret for inability to be present were read by the pastor from Rev. B. F. Patt, Ottumwa, Ia, and Dr. H. O. Rowlands of Cincinnati. Mr. Bennett was full of joy and praise for the new edifice, and rejoiced in the great victory achieved. He urged the membership to be true to the great principles underlying all true church work. He will remain in the city a few days, so many friends want to meet him again.

Prof. Barnes followed with a fine address, emphasizing the need of religion in the home, the school and church. The three institutions should work together for the uplift of the child character and the welfare of society. The last speaker was Dr.
L. C. Sparks, who brought salutations. He pointed out the great changes that have taken place in Newark since he came here sixteen years ago. He spoke of the splendid line of ministers the Baptist church has had these sixteen years, all of them the finest types of the best and strongest found in any ministry. He was glad for the growing unity of feeling and effort between the church, their excellent houses of worship, and the general religious progressiveness. He was roundly applauded time and again.

Tonight is Denison University night. President C. W. Chamberlain will preside. Prof. Eschman of Denison University will give a brief organ recital, and among the speakers is one from China—Miss Nixon. She will give a great address, and other speakers will be heard. Tomorrow night is the closing night of the dedication program week. Dr. L. W.
Doolan of Columbus will speak, and Dr. Samuel Z. Batten of Philadelphia who is on the National War Commission, known far and wide—gives the last address. Evening services at 7:30; doors open to everybody.

For Special Service.
The local draft board was instructed to furnish two men to fill a special call for 100 grammar school graduates, who have had some experience along mechanical lines and who have some aptitude for mechanical work. They are to report to the commanding officer of the University of Akron on July 15 for instructions as vulcanizers.

INFANT SON OF GOVERNOR COX DIES

Columbus, June 19.—Thomas Blair Cox, infant son of Governor and Mrs. James Cox, died at the family residence in Dayton last night.
The child was born Sunday. Gov-
yesterday afternoon and cancelled addresses which he was to have given today at the Columbus public school graduation exercises, and Thursday at the Ohio State University.

Meant to Finish That Pudding.
There is a story of Brannan Williams, famous English impersonator of Dickens' characters. He had a hard time before he "arrived," and hunger was a familiar companion. One night he had to play in a sketch in which he was supposed to consume a steak pudding. "Imagine my surprise," he says, "when a real, good, smoking hot steak and kidney pudding arrived on the scene. 'My eye!' I exclaimed to myself. I had to cut it and serve it, and in the ordinary course of events
we should have got through this stage meal in about five or six minutes.
But not tonight. I made up my mind that that pudding should not be wasted, but eaten, and I commenced in earnest. I made the best meal I had had for days, and improvised conversation till it was all polished off!"

Requiescat In Pace.
"The spirit of selfishness wrapped its constricting coils about his heart.
The coils, steadily tightening, pressed, one by one, the drops of human kindness from his soul. Hardened, malice-lent, a mere caricature of a man, he lived on and on. He died unmourned.
Selfishness is a serpent—sinuous, insinuating. Along the paths of all men it creeps. Those that look to the ground to avoid the dirty things of life, shun it. Those who, careless of life's dangers, wake up to find it in their bosom, strangle it—if it be not too late.
With the rest, its slimy coils become a comfort, a thing to worship. And they live their living death shunned and ostracized. They die unmourned."

WITHOUT PHOSPHORUS NERVES OF STEEL WEAKEN, WASTE AWAY AND DIE

Says Dr. Reid, Who Prescribes Phosphorated Malt to Steady and Strengthen the Nerves, Clear the Brain and Bring Back the Joys of Life

An Easy Way to Recharge the System
With Phosphorus and Restore Health and Strength to the Weak and Anemic.

Boston, Mass.—Your nerves and brain need phosphorus like your body needs food, says Dr. Reid, and the trouble with most of us is we use up our supply of phosphorus and find ourselves all run down and unable to do our daily work without feeling all tired out. We may look strong and healthy, as if we could do a full day's work without fatigue, but while we have a certain kind of strength we easily become all fagged out—we can't stand anything. We give out because we lack phosphorus and lack of endurance. For months and years we go on using a little more phosphorus every day than we store up and the loss is so gradual that it is unnoticed till a crisis is reached and we find ourselves on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown. This condition affects both mind and body. Nothing interests us as it once did and we actually live less—our nerves are less sensitive—they are not so fully alive. When I find this condition I prescribe phosphorated malt and I have seen it produce astonishing results in a very short time.
Recently a nation came to me all run down and on the verge of a mental collapse. His daily work had become druggery and he got neither rest nor recreation from his sports or holidays. He could neither sleep nor concentrate his mind on his work. I advised him to eat less and take two five-grain tablets of phosphorated malt after each meal. In less than ten days he walked into my office full of vim and vigor, his eyes bright, his step firm and his manner that of a man of twenty-five though he was well past fifty.
The value of malt is well known to all physicians. It is a remarkable tonic and tissue builder. Combined with phosphorus and phosphates as in phos-phorated malt it increases mental stamina, balances the blood and aids the system to convert food into living tissue. The old liquid forms of malt are inconvenient to take and most of them contain alcohol which produces a needless stimulation always followed by a depressing reaction. Phosphorated malt has the nutritive properties of malt without the evil effects of alcohol. After a few days of it you will wake in the morning vigorous and refreshed, ready to begin the day's work with redoubled confidence, optimism and endurance.
NOTE—The feeling of exhilaration often noticeable after a few weeks' use of phosphorated malt is not due to stimulation. It is the cheerfulness that comes of perfect health—a life stream flowing freely, carrying the nourishment the body needs, and flushing out the poisons of which the body needs to be rid. The fine exhilaration of perfect health and faultless nourishment is so rare to most people as to be remarkable and strange. Phosphorated malt is sold by all druggists and especially in Newark by T. J. Evans.

HEAR GUNNER DEPEW TOMORROW EVENING IN THE HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

It is to the sympathetic and kindly offices of Ambassador Gerard that Gunner Depew got his freedom from the German prison camps. He was visited in the prison camp at Dultmen, Germany, by Mr. Gerard and it is to him, by permission, that Gunner Depew has dedicated his story. Is it any wonder that men, who have viewed with their own eyes such brutal conditions, desire to paint in terms of fire their stories of these almost unbelievable horrors? This ark Rotary Club, Gunner Depew accepts no fixed charge for his address. In other words, it was impossible for the Rotarians to engage him to speak for any sum of money. For that reason it will be necessary to take a collection at the close of the address to defray the expenses of the speaker. One-fourth of the collection, whatever it may be, will be given to the Newark chapter of the Red Cross.

Prof. O. J. Barnes will preside at tomorrow night's meeting. After a story related in Newark tomorrow night will react as a patriotic service—to put fight and heart into the thousands upon thousands of boys yet to go "Over There" as well as to put iron into the souls of those now rendering with their bodies all that they have upon the altar of a democracy that shall be safe for all. Gunner Depew's story is for the folks back home—a stirring appeal for those who cannot wear the fighters' uniform, but who can surely wear the fighter's spirit for home sacrifices. He comes to this city tomorrow evening and will speak at the High School auditorium at 8 o'clock under auspices of the New-York Rotary Club. Gunner Depew will introduce Gunner Depew who will be followed by a four minute speaker for War Savings, and then will come a round table discussion with Gunner Depew. Gunner Depew will give Newark people one of the most interesting and enthusiastic war meetings ever held in this city. He will bring a thrilling message from the men he left behind in the German prison camps—a message that will stir the hearts of every man, woman and child present. The meeting the hall will be taxed, no doubt, so it will be well to secure seats early.

ELKS INSTITUTE A CLASS OF 12 LAST EVENING

A class of twelve candidates was initiated into Elkdom last evening, the work being put on by the officers in full evening dress in a manner which won for them many compliments from visitors, a number of whom were present from several cities over the country. The beautiful Elk Institute work was most impressive and the large lodge room was full to overflowing.

Those initiated were Harry P. Bowman, Dr. C. W. Spill, Clerk of Courts Leo T. Davis, Daniel Carl, Nicholas Saver, James P. Wolfe, M. E. Moran, Wm. E. Allen, J. J. Achenbach, Frank J. Blunder, C. P. O'Neill and Barch Smith.

A banquet followed the initiatory work which was served in the new dining hall, the guests being seated at tables, the newly-made Elks occupying a table at the head of the hall to the right of the officers table. Forty members of the Psi Sigma Chi were guests of the club, all of the young men having assisted on Elk day during the week of the war chest drive, with the concessions which netted $3,112.25.

After the night had been passed, Exalted Ruler J. J. Achenbach in a few brief remarks alluded to the teachings of Elkdom and the social relations of its members and then thanked the Psi Sig boys for their splendid assistance and loyalty to everything pertaining to the betterment of the community in which they reside. He then introduced Attorney Fletcher S. Scott as the toastmaster of the evening and that gentleman immediately assumed charge and prefaced his introductory remarks with many witticisms and a number of pertinent and witty "pecks" at several of his brothers.

He called upon a number of those present, including Hon. F. A. Bolton, Jas. T. C. Fiedler, Wm. E. Moran, W. Ward, Dr. J. T. Lewis, Frank Zuck for the Psi Sigs, Charles Biegler of Grand Rapids, Mich., and E. L. Webb of Dayton, O.

When the hour of 11 was reached and as the Elks chimes tolled eleven strokes, the lights were extinguished and Mr. Cooper gave the 11 o'clock toast, followed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Before adjourning Toastmaster Scott invited all Elks to be his guests at his country home on the Mt. Vernon road at a stag reception at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, June 27, that gentleman having recently joined the ranks of the benefactors.

During the banquet hours a splendid musical program was rendered by the six-piece Auditorium orchestra.

The diners, over 200 of whom were present, were served in a most experienced colored waiters, assisted by a number of the members. The menu was arranged by the entertainment committee composed of F. S. Scott, Byron Dickerson and Nelson Metz, and was prepared by the club steward, Col. Billy Holt, who added further laurels to his previous efforts, by complying with all government food conservation requests and at the same time arranging a most palatable menu.
